

FORTIETH YEAR

BISMARCK, NORTH DAKOTA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 18

PRICE FIVE CENTS

STATE BODY MAKES DEAL FOR SALE OF $3,500,000 OF HAIL
WARRANTS TO OUTSIDE FIRM

With Completion of Legal Formalities Entire Issue Would Be Taken at Graded Price

IMMEDIATE OFFER IS MADE

Well Known Financier to Dispose of $200,000 at 97 Per Cent of Par Value

Farmers of the state are today offered an opportunity to dispose of 1921 hail warrants at near par value as the result of an agreement consummated by the state administration, it was announced today.

Under the agreement the Minnesota Loan and Trust Company agrees to purchase the entire $3,500,000 1921 hail warrants as soon as certain legal requirements are met, probably early in February, at 2 per cent discount. In the meantime, to provide a sale for warrants to farmers who are anxious to obtain money during this month, the administration has obtained an offer from a well known business man of the state whose name is kept secret at his request to purchase $200,000 of warrants at 3 per cent discount.

The agreement followed submission of propositions to purchase the warrants by a half dozen Twin City and eastern financial concerns. After a long conference between Governor Nestos and Attorney General Johnson of the Industrial Commission, and Commissioner of Insurance S. A. Olness, the two propositions above named were accepted as the best submitted.

To Pay Par in June.

The Minnesota Loan and Trust Company's offer was to lessen the discount rate at 1-2 per cent each month after February, so that by June they would pay 100 cents on the dollar for the warrants. It was stated, however, that the company would not take warrants after June 15.

Farmers have sold 1921 hail warrants at discounts ranging as high as 20 per cent. Negotiations were begun recently by the state administration with a view to reducing this discount which Governor Nestos declared was far more than the farmers should be called upon to pay. Since it was announced these negotiations were under way the discount rate had fallen to 5 per cent.

Farmers who wish to immediately obtain cash for warrants will be able to sell them at 97 (total amount not to exceed $300,000), these warrants to be assembled in the farm loan department of the Bank of North Dakota for delivery to the unnamed North Dakota purchaser.

The plan to handle the sales to the Minnesota Loan and Trust Company, when legal requirements are completed, is as follows: Warrants will be delivered, probably to the Industrial Commission. The Industrial Commission will deposit the warrants with the state treasurer and issue debenture in $50,000 and $100,000 amounts, which the Minnesota Loan and Trust Company will purchase at 2 per cent discount, the farmer then receiving the amount of his hail warrant, less 2 per cent.

The trust company agrees to pay all expenses of printing debentures, and other expense of handling out of the 2 per cent discount, as was said.

Nestos Is Pleased.

The 1920 hail warrants, some of which are unpaid, are not included in the agreement as the administration believes that all will be retired with payment of taxes in the spring. The 1921 hail warrants may run for a year or more.

Governor Nestos said today he believed that the agreement was an exceptionally good one for farmers:

"When I discovered shortly after taking office, that discounts from 10 to 20 per cent was demanded on these warrants, I felt that it was an outrage, and since that time have been conferring with half a dozen different financial institutions to have them take these warrants, or debentures, based upon them for near par," the governor said.

"The offer we have just had from a financier of our state to purchase $200,000 of warrants at 97 per cent of the face value is the best offer we have had on the warrants themselves."

"The offer of the Minnesota Loan and Trust Company to handle the warrants after February first at 95 per cent of face value in exchange for the state debentures at par is the best debenture offer we have had as a result of this selling campaign, and the settling of a number of questions of law and procedure we will be in excellent shape to handle all future issues of hail warrants with the chance that they may then be handled at par."

Attorney General Johnson went thoroughly into the legal phases of the question with the firms negotiating for the warrants, and his opinion satisfied them on many points. Mr. Johnson plans to clear up all legal points that might be raised in connection with the hail warrants in the future so that a future stable market can be created for them.

BONUS BILL TO BE PUSHED BY
SENATE G. O. P.

Motion Adopted in Conference to Place it Second on The List

Washington, Jan. 18.—Decision to press first the allied debt refunding bill and next a soldiers' bonus bill was reached today by Republican senators in the first conference of this session of Congress. A second conference was called for tomorrow to discuss details of the two measures.

Opposition to a soldiers' bonus bill was presented but it was announced that the motion to place this legislation second on the list was carried by a large majority.

It was reported that the vote in favor of passing a bonus bill was 31 to 2 with several opponents of such legislation withholding their vote. While the conference did not approve the pending bill, some Republican leaders said the measure to be passed undoubtedly would follow the general principle of the measure now before the finance committee.

It was announced that there was no division on the motion of Senator McCumber of the finance committee that it be the sense of the conference that the allied debt refunding bill be taken up in the Senate and disposed of. Senator McCumber also offered the motion that upon the passage of this measure the senate take up the bonus bill.

EQUITY PLANT TO BE MANAGED
BY NEW BOARD

Entire New Board of Directors Is Elected at Fargo

Fargo, Jan. 18.—The Tri-State Grain Growers convention proper opened here this afternoon with discussions of economic agricultural production by Rex E. Willard, farm economist of the North Dakota Agricultural College, and John Bracken, president of the Manitoba Agricultural College.

Other farm organizations which are holding sessions today in conjunction with the Grain Growers include the North Dakota Seed Growers' Association, North Dakota Shorthorn Breeders' Association, Poultry Breeders' Association, and the Cass County Farm Bureau.

Stockholders of the Equity Cooperative Packing Plant after a four-hour hectic session last night resumed their meeting this morning and selected a new board of directors.

Differences which were in evidence last night at the opening session had disappeared today and an entire harmony prevailed.

An entire new board of directors headed by C. W. Reichert of Carrington, issued an additional certificate of indebtedness for the purpose of raising funds to retire outstanding liabilities amounting to approximately $160,000 and to raise capital for re-opening of the plant. The board of directors will select officers at a later date.

UNREST OVER
SO. IRELAND

Next Few Weeks May Be Trying Time, Correspondent Says

London, Jan. 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—Unrest prevails in southern Ireland, says the Dublin Correspondent of the London Times, who intimates that followers of Eamon deValera may be engaged in stimulating disturbances.

"The spirit of extreme Republicanism," the correspondent declares, "still flames in the south where large bodies of armed men refuse to accept the treaty between Ireland and Great Britain. There has been an epidemic of robberies and other crimes of violence in Dublin and in rural districts which demand strong measures by the government. The whole country will heartily support the provision of the Irish government in any measure taken to establish order but the next few weeks while English forces are being withdrawn may be a difficult time in Ireland."

BABY ALTERS VIEW OF MAN WHO SPURNED MILLIONS

By NEA Service.

Buzard's Bay, Mass., Jan. 18.—Baby

They've swayed the idealistic determination of Charles Garland, who several months ago refused a $1,000,000 legacy from his father, James A. Garland, on the ground he was not entitled to money he did not earn.

Now Garland has revised his decision.

And all because a baby daughter has been born to his wife in a Boston hospital.

Garland will take the legacy—but not for himself. One-third of it he'll settle on his wife and baby, though he and his wife have separated.

Takes Only $500.

Five hundred dollars he'll take to spend for needed improvements on the humble farm house he occupies here on the land he tills with his own hands.

The rest he'll distribute among 10 friends. They'll spend it to do good, he's convinced.

When Charles Garland refused his share of the estate, his brother, Hamilton, a Harvard student, announced he would likewise refuse his share when he became of age.

But now Hamilton, too, is said to have changed his belief and probably will accept the $1,000,000, though he won't tell why.

Charles Garland is 22. He wears the sheepskin coat and other rough working attire of the farmer. He sits at a frugal table.

"Christ would not have consented to become a millionaire," he says, "so why should I."

Good Roads Association Closes Annual Meeting with Banquet at McKenzie

AMENDMENT ADOPTED

Delegates to the convention of the North Dakota Good Roads Association which closed its annual meeting here last night, unanimously adopted the legislative committee's report that a constitutional amendment be submitted to the people of the state, which would create a state highways system on a county seat to county seat basis with revenues for state construction of roads provided by motor vehicle, motor fuel taxes and other funds which may become available.

The association also endorsed two bills proposed for consideration of the legislature, one to provide for a non-politically appointed highway commission with enlarged powers and the other providing for a readjustment of motor vehicle taxes.

Officers Re-elected.

All officers of the association were re-elected at the business meeting which followed a banquet at the McKenzie hotel, at which Governor R. A. Nestos spoke. Officers re-elected are:

President—J. J. Moe, Valley City.

First Vice-President—F. W. Mees, Mandan.

Second Vice-President—N. B. Black, Fargo.

Treasurer—J. L. Bell, Bismarck.

Member executive committee at large—S. T. May, Dickinson.

Will E. Holben was reappointed secretary and one director for each county in the state was elected, Phil Meyers being named for Bismarck.

Resolutions adopted by the association included one urging creation and maintenance of state parks in scenic places in North Dakota and urging congress to appropriate $100,000 a year for five years for highway aid.

Urged County Superintendent.

Other resolutions included: Reaffirmed non-political character of association.

Urged special state and federal regulations to permit counties in southwestern North Dakota to mail their county highway bills.

Urged appointment of county highway superintendents and maintenance of roads, preferably by patrol system.

Regretted death of John P. Lamb, of Nelson county, director in association.

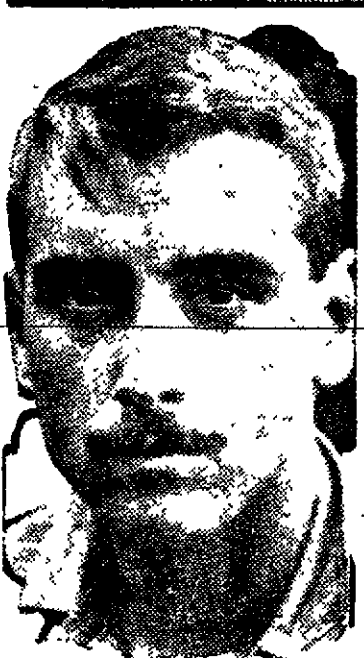

Urged that county commissioners provide trained and competent supervision of maintenance of highways not included in a state highway system.

The resolution relating to establishment of parks called attention to the fact that North Dakota has many beauty spots which are not appreciated sufficiently by her own people or tourists.

Seventy-five persons attended the banquet at the McKenzie hotel, at which Governor Nestos spoke.

The list of directors follows: Adams, Ira T. Hall, Hettinger; Barnes, Frank Heines, Valley City; Benson, Geo. Dickinson, Brimfield; Billings, Wm. NEW STORE TO

BY FEBRUARY 15

C. R. Robertson to Install Ladies' Wear Store in Former Johnson Bros. Store

C. R. Robertson, formerly president in business in Mandan and first president of the Mandan Rotary club, will establish a ladies' wear store in Bismarck in the building formerly occupied by Johnson Brothers. It was announced today by Mr. Robertson.

The store building now is being remodeled, new fixtures have been ordered and are on their way, and the business will be opened as soon as possible, it was stated.

"We have leased the building occupied by the Johnson Brothers, and will open a very good store for the retailing of women's wear," Mr. Robertson said. "New improvements will be made in the windows, our interior fixtures are very tasty and effective. They will be enameled in a light shade of tan, trimmed with brass fixtures. The entire room will be carpeted in a light blue, with velvet carpet and the store will be provided with ample space for fitting rooms and alteration conveniences."

"We haven't any tricks to play. We are not at all desirous of taking any business away from the present retailers of the city, but by the addition of our shop to do part in building a stronger market by which the city of Bismarck can attract more shoppers from the territory which it logically serves."

Mr. Robertson expects to open the Bismarck store about Feb. 15. He is leaving on a three weeks' buying trip to New York for his new store here.

GIRL'S FATHER WITNESS

States Attorney to Use Father of Marie Wick as One of First Witnesses

Valley City, Jan. 18.—Thirty-one out of 48 men on the panel had been examined up to noon adjournment today in an effort to obtain the jury that will try William Gummer on the charge of murdering Miss Marie Wick in the Prescott hotel on June 7 last. There were 12 prospective jurors in the box who had been passed for cause, but the state retained the privilege of using four peremptory challenges while the defense had 14 peremptory challenges remaining unused.

Court recessed a few minutes before 12 o'clock when States Attorney William C. Green advised Judge Cooley that in view of the fact that the state had only a few challenges remaining he would ask that the state be given an opportunity this noon to study the list of talesmen already passed for cause.

The court room this morning was not filled, many chairs being vacant. When the work of obtaining the jury (Continued on Page 3)

SUIT IS ENDED;
PAPER REGANTS

Courier-News Says That Campaign Charges Against Him Not Justified

Fargo, Jan. 18.—The Fargo Courier-News has ended the libel suit brought against it by former Attorney General William Langer by making a retraction of the charges. A suit for $50,000 had been filed by Langer and was to be heard in Richland county this week.

A stipulation was entered into between Langer and attorneys for the Nonpartisan League executive committee, it was stated, whereby the case was settled out of court.

The statement said in part: "The management of the Courier-News believes that a newspaper should publish what it believes to be the truth. For two years or more this paper in nearly every issue published statements severely reflecting upon the personal, professional and official integrity of Hon. William Langer."

In those articles Mr. Langer was characterized as a crook, grafter and traitor to the farmers and workers of North Dakota and a corrupt tool of "big business." These charges were emphasized in our editorials and we played him up in that character in our news items and stories and our cartoonists so portrayed him.

Mr. Langer, knowing that the statements published concerning him were false, sued us for libel. He was fair. He first asked us to retract. Instead of retracting we assaulted him worse than before. Mr. Langer then commenced a suit against us for $50,000 damages.

"The new management of the Courier-News, inheriting this lawsuit as it did, has made a thorough investigation and has come to the conclusion that Mr. Langer had been unfairly, unjustly and scandalously dealt with. We investigated the charges against him in full, item by item, and we are pleased to take up these charges in detail in this retraction."

Among the charges made was that Langer's fight for Miss Minnie Nielson was at the behest of "Big Business," politicians and the "book trust."

Other charges included statements about the Bank of North Dakota, mileage books, Minot raid, extravagance of Langer in office, Bowen murder case, the Scandinavian-American bank case, that Langer sold out in the grain trading case, and a letter published in the Courier-News by Lemke stating he was investigating charges that Langer defrauded a widow.

"We have no intention of retracting our statements, but we are pleased to take up these charges in detail in this retraction."

GOVERNOR ASKS
CARE IN ROAD
EXPENDITURES

Tells Good Roads Men That Financial Conditions Should Govern Us Now

RAPIDS FEDERAL PLANS

Says that Complaints Made U. S. Plan Cost Too Much for Engineering

Counseling a curtailment of construction for one or two seasons in the building of roads in North Dakota, Governor R. A. Nestos spoke to the convention of the North Dakota Good Roads Association here last night. In his address the Governor touched upon the high cost of plans and supervision and suggested that time be spent in searching for methods which would give the state road construction with minimum amount of money spent in overhead and maximum amount of money spent in efficiently moving dirt and spreading gravel.

"All people agree as to the need of good roads," the Governor told the friends of the roads movement at the end of the annual dinner. "Any person who drives for a stretch of poor roads onto a properly constructed highway will be as loud in his condemnation of the former as in his praise of the latter. It is not a question, therefore, whether we want good roads, but whether we are willing to do the work, and pay the cost of getting a system of good roads."

"So much needs to be done in this field, however, and the cost is necessarily so great, that many a taxpayer is appalled at the prospect, but I know of no county, state or country in which they have constructed economically a system of good roads where any man desires to go back to the days of the steep grades and the mud holes. The telephone and electric lights cost money, but where is the man who after a year's use of them willingly returns to a life without the pleasure and service of them?"

Poor Ones Cost More.

"It is also becoming more and more apparent that while it costs to build a good road, it costs more in the long run to keep on using a poor one. Much money has been wasted on the construction and maintenance of roads that failed to meet the requirements of proper highway construction, and hence were in miserable construction half of the time, and when in addition to this we figure the cost in smaller loads, in loss of time and extra wear upon horses, harness, wagons, automobiles and trucks, the cost of the poor road becomes enormous, and this condition on the road is one of the chief contributing causes in driving the growing generation away from the country and into the city."

After showing that the ideal was a system of roads connecting important centers with local roads connecting communities into social, educational and religious centers, the Governor continued:

"But whether these roads are built by Federal and State aid or the money raised by local taxation, those interested in road construction owe a duty to the people of our country, especially during these times of financial stress, and that is to construct these roads as economically as possible, and to map out the program and to make the work in such a way as to make the tax burden of our people as light as possible and still secure the desired results."

"Our road program should be such as to put into road building the business principles employed in every successful public and private enterprise of corresponding importance."

"There has been considerable complaint of the high cost of the projects built by Federal aid. County commissioners have told me that the Federal method of road construction is so expensive that they have found it advisable to build their roads without this aid and that they have saved enough by using methods of construction adapted to North Dakota conditions, so not to miss the absence of Federal aid. It is claimed that the department has not taken sufficiently into account the difference in engineering and road building problems between territories like the swamps of North Carolina, the mountains of Colorado, the forests of Michigan, and the level prairies of North Dakota and that too much of the cost of our North Dakota projects goes into blue prints, engineering and supervision."

"These complaints come from many quarters, and in such large numbers as to indicate that there must be at least a measure of justification and a real grievance. If this be the case, a thorough investigation ought to be made for the purpose of discovering if it would not be possible to provide a system of road construction for prairie states like North Dakota where the cost of the blue prints engineering and supervision and blue prints would not approach the cost of moving the dirt. This can and must be corrected. In view of the present financial conditions, of the Northwest, and the high taxes burdening our people, I believe it would be wisdom to curtail the road building program for (Continued on Page 7)

Methods Proposed to More Effectually provide for Policy Are Discussed

RESOLUTION PRESENTED

Would Bind Powers To Not Seek Special Spheres of Influence in China

Washington, Jan. 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—The American proposal to re-define the open door policy in China and to create an international board to examine both existing and future concessions which appear to conflict with the open door policy was adopted in part today by the Far Eastern committee of the Washington conference.

Washington, Jan. 18.—(By the A. P.)—Extended discussion of the American proposal "to apply more effectively" the principle of the open door in China was in prospect today when the Far Eastern committee of the armament conference met to resume consideration of the subject.

The proposal has been given the approval of the British delegation "as it stands" while the delegates of Italy have announced adherence in principle.

The resolution, briefly, would bind the represented powers not to seek special spheres of influence in China nor procure concessions of equal monopolies which would abridge the principle of equal economic and commercial opportunity, while China on her part would undertake to cooperate in maintaining that equal opportunity.

The Shantung negotiations meantime were continued today by the Japanese and Chinese delegates while completion of the naval treaty still awaited a solution of the Pacific fortifications problem despite receipt by the Japanese of partial instructions from Tokyo.

Senate Passes Kellogg Measure to Permit Action by the President

Washington, Jan. 18.—It remained for the house today to complete enactment of the bill passed by the senate to give the farmer representation on the Federal Reserve Board. Wiping out by amendment the clauses of the Federal Reserve Act providing specifically for the naming of two bankers to the board the bill would substitute a provision directing the president in making the appointment to have "due regard to a fair representation of the financial, agricultural, industrial and commercial interests and geographical divisions of the country."

COMPLAIN NEW LAWS BOOSTING COUNTY COSTS

Auditors Report to Governor on Ways of Decreasing Expenditures of Public Money

STRONG FOR ECONOMY

Pledges Made by Numerous Officials to Aid in Cutting Down Expenses in State

Complaint that the state hall insurance department is subsidized through requirement by law that counties spend great sums in its administration, complaint that other laws enacted by the legislature have increased the tax burden of the counties without appreciable benefit and suggestions for remedial legislation are made by some county auditors and commissioners in response to Governor R. A. Nestos, in a letter to the Governor's request for information concerning expenditures and for the cooperation of the officials of the various political subdivisions of the state in reducing the tax burden.

Responses received already from many officials of counties and cities in the state have carried with them statements of economies that have been made, and promises to cooperate by reducing county, city, township and school expenditures in the next year.

Auditor M. C. McCarthy, of Golden Valley county, while declaring he is not opposed to state hall insurance, but to the administration of it as provided by the revamped law of the last legislature, says that the hall insurance department is subsidized by the taxpayers. He says:

"Relative to the increase in the county expenditures I wish to say that the state hall tax costs approximately $1,000 to $1,200 per year for clerk hire, etc., in Golden Valley county alone to take care of the state hall, and for which we receive under the present law a compensation of something like $138.00 out of the state hall fund. I do not believe that it is proper, just or equitable to subsidize the state hall. It should be able to stand upon its own foundation, and all of the expense connected with it should be paid by those who enjoy its benefits. The state hall law as administered at the present time is one of the greatest vampires that we have to eat up revenue. Now, do not misunderstand me to be opposed to the state hall tax. What I am opposed to is the manner in which it is administered under our present law. The expense is too great and could be eliminated, thereby avoiding a large overhead expense which it has got to bear under the present system."

"The auditors of this state have suggested time and again systems that would make it more efficient and cost considerably less money to maintain it."

Wants School District Audit
Mr. McCarthy also pointed out that there now is no audit of expenditures of school districts, no publication of expenditures and the allowance of claims against the districts, and suggested that the boards should publish their proceedings so far as expenditures and the salaries paid to teachers, as an economy measure.

Chairman Walton, of the board of county commissioners of Dickey county, points out some means by which he says the taxpayers' burden is increased. He said:

"The grasshopper law has cost us a few thousands of dollars, for which there has been no benefit. It is costing a little more each year to maintain the better farming department of our county of which many of our farmers complain."

"It is also costing more each year for mothers' pensions. The mothers' pension law is a nice thing and no one should object to it from a legitimate standpoint, but it is being abused and we are only paying pensions to people who rightfully belong in other states, but are paying pensions to mothers where both heads of the families are living and able-bodied. As the law stands now it encourages desertions and should be amended to prohibit that kind of thing, and also as an inducement for people to move in here from other states for the purpose of getting on the pension roll."

Legislature Boosts "Overhead"
Auditor W. R. Tucker, of Cass county, points out some laws by which he says the tax burden has been boosted along, including as "the legislature's additional expenses—being double amount now paid to district court jurors and their mileage, the fact that we have juvenile commissioners, mothers' pensions, and increase in some of the county officers made by the last legislature, insane, tuberculosis, deaf and dumb, feeble-minded and similar items all have to be taken care of."

He said that the commissioners of Cass county felt the Governor's action in doing away with tax supervisors in each judicial district was a good thing, saying the tax supervisor had done no good in Cass county.

He said the law creating an additional payment on real estate taxes had added considerable cost to the county clerical work.

The county commissioners of Ward county forwarded a resolution in which the board said "it is our aim to scrutinize all expenditures with an eye for economy and our purpose is to protect our county and our taxpayers, to see that the people receive 100 per cent value for money expended, and, at the same time, not let anything go by default, nor let the poor go hungry, or let us go to ruin such improvements as the county has already made, but to economize along all lines and to further only such projects as have already been started."

Strong for Idea
Auditor Andrew Blewett, of Jamestown, wrote that the Stutsman county board had agreed with the Governor's demand for economy and would cooperate. Chairman Fritz of Grand Forks county wrote the same.

Bureau auditor of Sheridan county wrote that the board of county commissioners want to make a reduction on everything where a cut can be made. They have had the promise of some school districts already, and they think that all townships, villages, city and school districts will cooperate, and do what they can."

Chris J. Hill, auditor of McLean county, wrote: "The board of commissioners requests me to assure you that they will cooperate with you in every manner possible in conformity with the suggestions outlined in your communication and they feel certain that the officers of the other political subdivisions of the county can be depended upon to do likewise."

Sargent county estimated the county levy would be cut $40,000 to $50,000 in 1922. Ramsey county reported that the county was on a cash basis, and in splendid condition, the last bonds having been retired in 1919. The Sioux county board of commissioners adopted the Governor's request to reduce expenditures as much as possible.

The auditor of Steele county reported that the taxes had been cut $22,000. He informed the Governor, who was especially pleased with his letter, that the tax levy had been drawn up by the commissioners decided that general conditions which had changed since the levy was made, called for action. They recalled the tax levy, spent $316.10 on clerk hire to do the work over again, and cut the levy $22,000.

Among the city commissions which wrote pledges of economy were those of Dickinson, Wahpeton, Fargo, New Rockford, Rugby. Many other letters were received from counties.

LEMKE FUND IS HELD OFF BANK BOOKS, REPORT
Auditors Engaged in Auditing Bank of North Dakota Make Report on the Fund

The Bank of North Dakota kept its deposit the "Lemke fund" raised last winter without making a record of the account on the books of the bank according to a report to Sveinbjorn Johnson by auditors now engaged in auditing the Bank. The circumstances surrounding the account were such that the auditors deemed a special report advisable, so that the Attorney-General could take steps in the matter, it was stated.

The funds were taken out of the bank on vouchers approved by former Attorney-General William Lemke and his former first assistant, William A. Anderson.

All the receipts and vouchers on the fund were turned over to former

NOVEL MEANS TO GET WORK FOR JOBLESS

Many Cities Are Trying Their Utmost To Solve Unemployment Problem

SPECIAL ENTERTAINMENTS

Unemployed Are Engaged To Sell Tickets On Big Percentage Basis

Washington, Jan. 17.—Novel means are being employed by various cities and towns throughout the United States to provide work for the jobless, according to reports collected by Colonel Arthur Woods, head of the organization charged with carrying on work started by the recent national conference on unemployment.

Summaries of these reports show means used to be as follows:

Chicago has made a house to house canvass under the direction of 23 hat tation fire chiefs to compel householders to remove from their premises all combustible material and refuse, as a fire prevention measure. This campaign has created many short time jobs.

Dallas, Texas, took a church census of its population and each household was asked if some special odd job, painting, carpentry, gardening, or cleaning, could be furnished the unemployed, and a record was kept of the replies and addresses, with the result that a large number of days of work were secured for the most needy.

In Fort Wayne, Ind., advertisements were published in the newspapers, and the unemployed were asked to fill out and send in blanks. These were turned over to the local employment agency, and local industries secured the help they needed.

Employs an Agent
Kearney, N. J., has an agent out every afternoon, covering the town, with several helpers, in automobiles. They visit buildings under construction, look over streets being paved, and call at all industrial plants and railroad shops, offering the cooperation of the local employment bureau, and ascertaining exactly what kind of help is needed.

In New York City, 103 social agencies have been organized in relief work for the unemployed and have established a central bureau of registration to act as a clearing house.

Pittsburgh contractors and employers have been urged to keep one or two men in each family on the payroll, and to hire to a large extent those living in the city who have dependents. Each ward in Rockford, Ill.,

Ordinances Enforced.
Schnectady, N. Y., has taken care of its own problem by bond issues for public improvements, and the city officials are enforcing rigidly such ordinances as snow removal, which is done under city supervision and charged on tax bills of all delinquent property owners.

Atlanta has formed a club of 600 citizens, each of whom has pledged the building of a dwelling to be rented at a reasonable figure, thus giving employment to many, and also helping the housing situation.

Boston has asked all employers to increase the number of their employees by at least one, and as many more as is possible.

New London, Conn., runs special entertainments in the theaters with local talent. The unemployed were allowed to sell tickets and retain a good percentage of the proceeds. Civil service rules are suspended in Cambridge, Mass., so that many persons can rotate in the same jobs.

Houston, Texas, maintains a gang of laborers ranging in number from 200 to 600 paying them $1.25 a day and if they have dependents, supplementing this by charity. Employers are urged to apply to the city for labor, which is supplied from this gang.

ADVISES CUT IN THE ACREAGE SOWN TO WHEAT

Rex Willard Talks To Farmers at The Tri-State Grain Growers' Convention

FOR DIVERSIFIED FARMING

Farmers Can Help Readjust Themselves To The Conditions Now Existing

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—Declaring that prices will not return to normal for several years at least, Rex E. Willard, farm economist of the North Dakota Agricultural College, today suggested to the Tri-State Grain Growers convention, in session here, that diversified farming, with an attendant cut in the acreage sown to wheat, would help the farmers readjust themselves to present conditions.

"During each war in the history of this country," Mr. Willard said, "prices have advanced from 100 per cent to 150 per cent. The advance in prices of farm products has been more rapid than the advance of other commodities and likewise the drop in farm prices has been more rapid than other products. Following the civil war, more than a dozen years were required to get back to normal and the present indications from the price trend in the several years will be required to get back to normal."

"The first and probably the most important question that is in the minds of the farmers at this time is that relating to prices," Mr. Willard said. "It makes no difference in terms of dollars whether the price of any individual commodity is high or low if the relative buying power of that commodity is as an equality with that of other commodities, that is to say of the normal price of wheat is $1 per bushel and this bushel of wheat will buy the same amount of other products when the price of wheat is $1.50, relatively the prices are the same."

High Point Reached in 1920

After declaring that there was a marked difference in the rapidity with which prices advanced and dropped off, Mr. Willard declared that the high points for all products were reached in the middle of 1920, but pointed out that the price of farm products was relatively lower and has continued relatively lower.

"Clothes and clothing, household furnishings, lumber and building materials and some other groups of products advanced far in excess of farm products, or above the average of all the commodities, and the prices of these materials continued to rise, above the average, clothes and clothing now being approximately 85 per cent above normal, building materials 90 per cent and household furnishings 118 per cent, while farm prices are only slightly above the 1913 level," he said.

He gave two reasons for the rapid advance of farm products after the outbreak of the World War ahead of all other commodities and the equally rapid decline. The first, he said, was the primary requirement of the war period was food and in face of the consequent heavy demand prices of farm products shot up most rapidly and fell most rapidly when this support was withdrawn. Second, that since the farmers could not regulate their production, within a period of a year, as other industries, prices necessarily fell off when drops of fixed prices were removed and the supply overshadowed the demand.

What Caused Prices to Advance

"The cause of the advance in prices was due largely to the increase in demand," Mr. Willard said, "and the commodity that was most quickly able to control its production was the commodity which was able to maintain its price levels the longest."

"Cost of production studies on North Dakota farms indicate that a very much greater efficiency and a lower cost of production are obtained where diversified production is followed, rather than place all of the emphasis on one crop. Profits were made on diversified farms while severe losses were sustained where single enterprises were operated."

"What conclusion may we draw from this situation?" he continued. "First, to materially affect the prices farm production must be controlled. With a world surplus of 12 per cent of wheat, it would seem to be not advisable to plant as large a wheat acreage as last year because prices do not remain constant, but continually rise and fall in more or less regular cycles, and it would appear to be the most logical to prepare for the future."

"In other words, substitute for the crop of which there is an over supply at the present time other kinds of Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 14.—This is the story about a sheriff who pursued a girl until he caught her. And then he "locked her up" for life.

But it's all Dan Cupid's fault, so let's let him tell about it.

Says Dan:

"I watched Irene Galvin rise to fame as a musical comedy star. She was a pretty miss, and she sung her way into the hearts of audiences throughout the southwest. My heart was one of them."

Then I happened on Sheriff "Big Bill" Hutton, of Little Rock. This was when he viewed Miss Galvin as leading lady with the Galvin Musical Comedy company. His interest in her interested me.

Miss Galvin shortly left Little Rock—but she returned at my beckoning.

majority of our people that this situation might be materially relieved through the recent political upheaval within our state, but this hope has apparently been shattered.

Swell Tax Collection.

"It is my belief that our December tax collection will not supply more revenue than will be required to meet current needs, therefore, I would suggest that negotiations be immediately entered into with the state industrial commission with a view of procuring a loan from the Bank of North Dakota to pay the expense bills of the state institutions for the months of November and December, 1921, and January, 1922."

"The Bank of North Dakota has provided such loans in the past to relieve temporary difficulties such as this, and I believe that they have sufficient funds on hand realized from bond sales made several months ago to again relieve the state from further embarrassment at this time."

H. S. BUILDS GYMNASIUM IN THREE WEEKS

Crosby Students and Carpenters Work Hand in Hand To Make Record Time

Crosby, N. D., Jan. 18.—The Crosby High school has set an unusual record in building a gymnasium in three weeks. The school had been renting halls down town for gymnasium work and games and had found the conditions rather unsatisfactory. This year no place was found for rent at a reasonable price that could be made available for the needs of the school.

The first of December, the plan was projected to put an addition to one of the grade school buildings. Local carpenters and High School students completed the building so it was ready for use with the beginning of the present school term. The total cost has been approximately $2,000.

The building was a big unity endeavor. A number of citizens volunteered their labor. The various members of the school board gave their teams and services and the gymnasium is a community center. The business men of the town have formed an athletic association and high school athletics have taken a new turn. The locals showing much better play in their basketball games since their practice has been under better conditions.

State Absorbed Something Like 1380 Degrees of Excess High Temperature

The people of North Dakota are in debt to some section of the universe. They owe the particular but unknown region something like 1,380 degrees of high temperature which this state absorbed last year in excess of the usual heat average. Thus far, none of the excess heat of 1921 has been returned or at least North Dakota has not had abnormally cold weather to counter-balance the heat of a year ago. All this goes to show that the year 1921 allowed North Dakota to be one of the warm members of the universe.

The average daily temperature in North Dakota, according to Mr. O. W. Roberts of the North Dakota Weather Bureau is about 49 degrees. For the last year the average for each day ascended until it was an indefinite fraction or two above 44 degrees. The warm open winter of a year ago accounts for a part of the excess heat, and a week or two in the summer added the rest. October managed manfully in an attempt to swing the state back toward a temperate normal, but failed, and the heat record went on to the end of the year with a total excess heat record of close to 1,400 degrees.

But one variation from ordinary has occurred since October, according to Mr. Roberts and that is an unusual amount of snowfall for this state up to the present time. The local weather observer does not want to be quoted as saying that he suspected that a Wisconsin or Minnesota snowstorm had wandered out of its way and spent itself on the Dakota Prairies, or even that a mild visitation from his native Iowa had followed him up here, but he admits that up to the middle of January, North Dakota had gotten more snow than it is accustomed to. He considers this excess of snow as beneficial in producing moisture but not the beneficial visitation that a similar amount would be late in the spring.

GERMANY IS BECOMING DEMOCRATIC

Berlin, Jan. 18.—Germany is gradually becoming more democratic, say ardent supporters of the republic. They see proof of this in the fact that former German aristocrats who once would have considered it a family scandal to have been detected at manual labor and members of the highly educated classes who were equally averse to any kind of work with their hands now are not only willing to work when they have to but they take to it from choice.

Among 30 students recently enrolled in a school which teaches various kinds of manual work, 10 were of noble families or sons of fathers who formerly never would have consented to see an offspring engaged in such trades or in any work.

In all these occupations the student must go through a severe apprenticeship, after which he is permitted to join a labor union and work for union wages.

Considerable satisfaction is manifest in republican quarters over this evidence of the change which is taking place in Germany.

Sweden To Electrify Industrial Plants

Stockholm, Jan. 18.—The first section of a high power electric line which is designed to pass through the center of Sweden from north to south has just been completed and is now in operation.

The section connects the high power electric station at Trollhattan Falls, in central Sweden, to the city of Vaesteras, one of Sweden's most important manufacturing centers. It cost more than 10,000,000 kroner (about $2,500,000).

The large waterfalls of North and Central Sweden will be utilized to provide the power for the great Central power line when completed. This is intended to enable Sweden not only to run its trains with electric power but also to electrify the big industrial plants of the country.

It is expected in that way to greatly decrease if not entirely to eliminate the use of coal.

FRENCH BOYS BUY GERMAN MARKS

Paris, Jan. 18.—Even the school boys of Paris now speculate in money of foreign countries. The fever which has prompted French people of all classes to invest their funds in German marks, it only led a 12-year-old boy to one of the large Paris banks where he asked for a franc's worth of German money.

The clerk was amazed at the youthful request and stuck his head out of the cage so that he might better see the boy whose head scarcely reached the window ledge. The child continued, as though speaking to a man: "Perhaps it would be better if I bought Hungarian money. I read in the paper this morning that marks had gone up but Hungarian money hadn't, but Hungary has lots of coin and I think her money will go up soon. Don't you?"

The clerk told the child the bank did not transact business on such a limited scale, and advised him to invest his franc in candy.

Lisbon, Jan. 18.—Business interests of Portugal have taken a hand to bring economic affairs of this country out of what they characterize as a deplorable condition. All the commercial, agricultural and industrial associations have formed a kind of defensive union to take an active part in public administration and enforce Portugal's right to work and prosper in spite of political struggles and revolutionary movements.

For this purpose a national economic congress has been held at Oporto in which many leading business men and bankers participated. They declared that they refused long-was resumed in the Barnes County district court this morning, counsel for the state and defense were confident that the jury would be completed during the day.

TRY TO SPEED SELECTION OF GUMER'S JURY

There were twelve men in the jury box who have been passed for cause. The state has used only two of its previous challenges and the defense has used a like number of its twenty challenges.

State's Attorney Green said today that he expected to place the father of the murdered girl on the stand as one of the first witnesses.

Attorney in Cave.

The attorneys for the defense are W. H. Barnett of Fargo, Clair Bricker of Fargo, and W. H. Swenson of Devils Lake, judge of the Ramsey county court. A. P. Paulsen of Valley City is with the attorneys for the defense assisting in the selection of the jury and may remain with the defense throughout the entire trial.

State's Attorney Wm. C. Green of Fargo, is being assisted in the prosecution by State's Attorney L. S. B. Ritchie, of Barnes county.

Questions by the defense put to the jurors asked particularly as to the juror's family. Did he have any daughters of about the age of the murdered girl and if so would this create a prejudice in his mind against the accused that testimony could not change? Each juror was also asked what papers he had read at the time of the murder and also if he had read papers giving details of the killing after the state had accused Gumer of the crime.

Prejudice, State's Question.

The prosecution invariably had one question: "Have you any prejudice in your mind that would make you hesitate in bringing in a verdict against an accused on circumstantial evidence?" To each juror Attorney Green put the question as to whether they fully understood the difference between circumstantial evidence and direct evidence. If the juror was convinced that he had no prejudice against circumstantial evidence, the state made no objection. When court adjourned last night 16 men were in the jury box temporarily passed, four of whom have been challenged, but which four has not yet been given out.

The jurors passed were: Frank Steldt Oriska, farmer, married, daughter 18 read only German paper; Chris Olson, Ypsilanti, farmer, 25, married, no children; Olaf Olson, Kathryn, stone mason, 47, single; R. GERMANY IS BECOMING DEMOCRATIC

Berlin, Jan. 18.—Germany is gradually becoming more democratic, say ardent supporters of the republic. They see proof of this in the fact that former German aristocrats who once would have considered it a family scandal to have been detected at manual labor and members of the highly educated classes who were equally averse to any kind of work with their hands now are not only willing to work when they have to but they take to it from choice.

Among 30 students recently enrolled in a school which teaches various kinds of manual work, 10 were of noble families or sons of fathers who formerly never would have consented to see an offspring engaged in such trades or in any work.

In all these occupations the student must go through a severe apprenticeship, after which he is permitted to join a labor union and work for union wages.

Considerable satisfaction is manifest in republican quarters over this evidence of the change which is taking place in Germany.

Sweden To Electrify Industrial Plants

Stockholm, Jan. 18.—The first section of a high power electric line which is designed to pass through the center of Sweden from north to south has just been completed and is now in operation.

The section connects the high power electric station at Trollhattan Falls, in central Sweden, to the city of Vaesteras, one of Sweden's most important manufacturing centers. It cost more than 10,000,000 kroner (about $2,500,000).

The large waterfalls of North and Central Sweden will be utilized to provide the power for the great Central power line when completed. This is intended to enable Sweden not only to run its trains with electric power but also to electrify the big industrial plants of the country.

It is expected in that way to greatly decrease if not entirely to eliminate the use of coal.

Mr. Diesem Is Married In Fargo

At high noon yesterday, at the home of Mrs. H. F. Arnold of Fargo, occurred the wedding of Miss Clara Luella Pannebaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Pannebaker of Mapleton, and Harry Russell Spencer Diesem of Fargo. Rev. George H. Powell of Mapleton, read the service, the ring ceremony being used. Miss Marjorie Collins of Mapleton, a niece of the bride acted as ring bearer. Miss Myrtle Ross of Fargo, and John Lindley of Mapleton, were the attendants.

Miss Mildred Pannebaker, sister of the bride, was at the piano and played the wedding march. She also played the accompaniment for her sister, Miss Marion Pannebaker, who sang, "I Love You Truly," before the vows were spoken. Immediately after the ceremony Mrs. Arnold sang, "A Beautiful Thing Has Come Into My Life," with Miss Pannebaker as accompanist.

A wedding dinner for the families was served after the ceremony.

Mrs. Diesem has served in several capacities in the state offices at Bismarck. She has also been prominent in women's club activities in the state. Mr. Diesem has been engaged in newspaper work in the state for several years and is now state editor for the Forum. Mr. Diesem, who was a member of the nineteenth division, saw eleven months of active service overseas during the World War. He is a graduate of the University of North Dakota with the class of 1919, and was editor of the LaMoore Chronicle for six years. He has many friends in Bismarck.

Bismarck Boys

The first of a series of Tuesday night programs was held at the Richholt school gymnasium last night. The gym was crowded to capacity by parents and friends of the competing teams.

Promptly at eight o'clock basketball teams representing grades six in the Will and Richholt schools commenced a battle in which the winner was not decided, for at full time, the score stood three all, and as there were three other games to be played it was decided to call off the struggle. The Will school was represented by Ray Gobel, John White, B. McNettie, Ed. Bert, Nacole, Louis McCrory and Don Keniston; while Richholt was represented by Gordon Sanders, Harry Scroggin, Bill Burge, Floyd Wray and Elmer Benser.

Two girls teams, the Reds and the Blacks, both of Richholt, played splendid ball. Here also a winner was not declared as the score was four all at the conclusion of the game.

The teams were as follows: Reds—Anna Joachim, Helene Robitson, Dorothy Pollock, Elsie Dralle, Luciel Kraft, Blacks—Bessie Yeasley, Rose Longfelder, Jessie McDonald, Marat Agre, Margaret Goloway.

Richholt grade seven trimmed the Will Moore grade seven 8 to 2. The Richholt team was composed of the following: Joe Joachim, Henry Danot, Hermie Milde, Ernest Benser, Fred Sanders, Wm. Moore team: Gerald Jackson, Bob Campbell, Carl Danrot, Bert Dunn, Bill Smart.

In the relay race the Will school carried off the honors over the Richholt grade VI.

In the girls relay race the Blacks won from the Reds.

In the final relay race between the winners of the boys and the winners of the girls, the Will boys were again victorious, although it appeared as though the girls would win until one of them dropped the ball, which she was carrying, and before the ball was recovered the boys took a commanding lead and held it.

The final game of the evening was between grade VIII-A and the second team from the Indian school. The Indians came out of the game with the long end of the score which was six to four. The line up was as follows: Indians—Foot, Wood, Mandan, Irwin, Williams. Grade VIII-A—Jones, Archie McGary, Frank Yeasley, Stan Stebbins, Jack Dingle and Vernice Smart.

Referee, J. J. MacLeod, Timer, D. T. Owens. Scorer, Mark LaFrance. Next Tuesday a similar program of games and races will be conducted.

"ROSARY" CAST MAKES BIG HIT; HERE TONIGHT

Bismarck Cast Wins Praise For Performance Given Before Mandan Audience

OFFERED TWO NIGHTS

The local cast which will present "The Rosary," comedy-drama, at the city auditorium tonight and tomorrow night scored a decided hit in its performance at Mandan. The play, which is given for the benefit of St. Mary's school is expected to attract large audiences for both performances here. The advance seat sale has been good. The cast appeared at the auditorium this afternoon also at a 4 o'clock matinee.

"The Rosary" is not a religious play but a strong comedy drama. The local cast has been under the direction of Joseph M. Golden. Mr. Golden is enthusiastic about the local cast. He said today that he has one of the best-balanced casts he has rehearsed in any city in a long time. He was able, he said, to find participants especially suited to their parts, and they all have rehearsed diligently.

The play tells a beautiful story of love, mystery and ambition, and contains many clever and funny situations. Special scenery is used in the production. As special features, Mrs. Frank Barnes will sing "The Rosary." An eight-piece orchestra under the direction of Donald McDonald will furnish the music. The play starts at 8:15 P. M.

The Mandan Pioneer said of the cast's appearance in Mandan:

"The Bismarck cast under the direction of Joseph M. Golden which last night presented 'The Rosary' at the Palace theater as a benefit for St. Joseph's parish, scored a complete success, financially as well as dramatically."

"Golden in the role of the puerile, good-humored and faithful Catholic priest was of course the leading figure in the play. The play itself is replete with funny situations as well as opportunities for amateur actors to display their dramatic talent and without exception, the cast was excellent."

"Vivian Dolan, well known to Mandan younger people, scored a distinct hit in the role of the maid who never laughed. Other members of the cast carried off their roles in admirable manner."

"The theater was packed to standing room only for the matinee performance Monday afternoon when the children of the parochial and public school thronged the place. A neat sum was netted for the St. Joseph parish."

"The play will be repeated two evenings, Wednesday and Thursday, in the city auditorium at Bismarck."

GRIFFITH "WAY DOWN EAST" COMING

D. W. Griffith's picturization of "Way Down East," based on the stage play by Lottie Blair Parker, which for the past twenty-two years was one of the rural classics of the American theater, will be presented at the Capitol theater on Monday with the following cast: Lillian Gish, Richard Barthelmess, Mary Hay, Burr McIntosh, Lowell Sherman, Creighton Hale, Mrs. Morgan Belmont, Kate Bruce, Edgar Nelson, George Neville, Vivian Ogden, Porter Strong, Joseph Bernard, Mrs. David Landau, Patricia Pruett, Florence Short, Emily Fitzroy and Myrtle Sault.

Mr. Griffith's production of "Way Down East" represents ten months' work of the most exacting character, for in his screen version of the story he has endeavored to follow closely the narrative of the stage play, with here and there a digression for the purpose of dramatic value or elucidation.

"Way Down East" is the biggest production Mr. Griffith has made. Several Griffith innovations are promised, including a thrilling snowstorm and a genuine New England ice break on the river.

Following the premiere performance, the production will be offered daily, matinee and evening. There will be a special music program.

MARVELS OF 1822
Would you rather have lived 100 years ago than now? Would you like to exchange places with your great-grandfather—live in the easy-going days of 1822 instead of the madhouse hustle of 1922?

Turn the clock back a century.
The people of 1822 were astounded by revolutionary changes in the way of doing things.
After a great deal of patient argument by drummers, sugar manufacturers decided to take a long chance. They actually installed the first steam engines used in the sugar industry of Louisiana.
Thomas Skidmore, of New York, in 1822 caused much talk by inventing and using the first tubes made out of rubber.
In Philadelphia, an enterprising iron maker revolutionized waterworks systems by casting the first cast-iron conduit pipes.

Inventors were busy in those days. The principal patented inventions of 1822 were the first artificial teeth, the first American isinglass, the first machine for making fence pickets.
The latter invention worried the carpenters. Many saw nothing but gloom in the future.
Christopher Cornelius, of Philadelphia, got cheers from sailors in 1822 by inventing a light-house lamp to burn lard by the solar principle. Now we have electric beacons of 1,000,000,000 candlepower.

Texas' first cotton was grown in 1822 by Colonel Jared E. Groce, in the bottom of the Brazos de Dios.
Congress made Florida a territory and held forth the alluring hope that it might some day become a state.
The navy won much renown by capturing and destroying 20 pirate ships off the coast of Cuba.
Gaudy dresses became possible for even the humblest, in 1822, when Messrs. Mason and Baldwin made the first engraved cylinders for printing fancy designs on calico.
All around, you'll agree, 1822 was a dull year, compared with 1922. The people of 1922 will think the same of 1922.

LOW
You have an "off day" occasionally. You look around, notice that every one acts as if he needed winding.
Then the old alibi: "Folks all seem sort of low today. May be the weather."
On such days, the current called life-force is low.
Something is wrong at the central power house.

STOVES
Twenty thousand electric stoves were sold last year in this country, says an electrical association. The figure seems too low. It is very small, in a nation of at least 20,000,000 homes, each needing a stove.
If you could come back to earth 150 years from now, you'd find nothing but electric ranges. Electricity will be the only fuel of the future.

SPENDTHRIFT
Years ago, the Canadian government gave a logging company a permit to take 100,000 logs out of Ontario. The company felled 300,000 and took every third tree, the best.
Today, on a hunting trip up north, you can see the largest of the 200,000 wasted trees slowly rotting on the ground.
Seems like frightful waste. But, comparing timber supply and needs now with then, we moderns are equally spendthrift with our rapidly vanishing forests.

CUPID SCOWLS
How many Americans, more than 50 years old, are unmarried? About 2,000,000, reports the census bureau. It estimates that only 100,000 of them will ever marry.
Is Cupid losing his aim? Probably not. Chances are, the percentage of the population that goes through life single is about the same as ever. Love and marriage are instinctive, and instinct requires more than a decade or century to change it.
One thing is certain, and the census shows it: The age of marriage is being raised. Not like grandma's day, when, 16-year-old brides were not unusual.
About 10 per cent of our women marry before

20. A tenth of these are widowed or divorced within a few months. Men marry later in life than women, more than half of them waiting until after they're 30.

DEBT
Here's a silver lining for your clouds. The national debt has been reduced $1,535,978,676 in the last 17 months.
This pulls it down to $23,438,984,351 at the start of 1922.
At this rate, the whole national debt would be wiped out in about 23 years. Part of it should be passed on to future generations when the refunding plan is framed.

MECHANICAL
New York city will speed up its traffic by installing powerful searchlights, which will regulate autos on nearly every street of Manhattan Island.
Red light will stop all north-and-south traffic and start the east-and-west flow.
Civilization is becoming an automatic machine. Can individual initiative survive? It is rare enough now.

DOLLARS
The new silver dollar, pretty to look at, is objected to by some bank tellers. It's too thick. Pile 20 on top of each other and a slight jar will topple the stack.
This is typical of many things done by man. Function or purpose of a thing is neglected, to improve its form. Like a $15,000,000 postoffice building with huge marble corridors and about a tenth as many stamp windows as are needed to prevent delay.
Real art is efficiency of function.

STRENGTH
An old-time endurance stunt was carrying a 62-pound bag of potatoes a mile without stopping. At Pequonock, Conn., a bet is made that no one in the village can do it now.
The fellow who made the bet probably will lose it. But he's on the right track, in that he recognizes the steady decadence of the average man's physical strength. Maybe you remember the miller in "the old home town," who could carry a 196-pound barrel of flour without grunting.
Men depend more on their brain strength now than on their muscles.

MISTAKE
Do you receive much business mail? If so, you have noticed a great increase in the use of rubber stamps for signing letters.
The president of one of the large corporations sent a New York letter to all his customers. It was a form letter, but it was so cleverly handled, wishing the recipient blessings for 1922, that it had the personal touch.
Then, at the bottom, the whole effect was ruined by the use of a rubber stamp instead of signing in ink.
The personal touch in a business transaction or letter is as valuable as it is easily lost.

PROPHETIC
More than 400 years ago Leonardo da Vinci, the Italian artist who painted "The Last Supper," invented a submarine boat and recorded:
"How by a certain machine many may stay some time under water. And how and wherefore I do not describe my method * * *. And I do not publish nor divulge these, by reason of the evil nature of men, who would use them for assassinations at the bottom of the sea, by destroying ships and sinking them, together with the men in them."
Sounds as if it were written in 1922 instead of four centuries ago. Human nature changes. Human devilishness doesn't.

PECULIAR
Silas Wright Titus, the "Water Wizard" is dead. Since boyhood, it is said that he never failed to find underground water when he went after it. He made water-hunting his life work. One of his big jobs was locating the under-ground water that supplies Brooklyn, N. Y., 10,000,000 gallons a day.
No matter how peculiar a demand rises, up from the people always comes some man intuitively fitted to handle the job. We may be masters of our own destinies, but there's a wonderful system back of it all, distributing human abilities to meet demands.
Is life staged, in some respects, in advance?

MORE MONEY
Every one dreams of getting a legacy from a rich uncle. Such windfalls come to a few people. But not to many. The great majority can never get ahead, never become financially independent, unless they save patiently, persistently and with a system.
Man works for money. If he saves, money will work for him.
Thrift is an absolute necessity, to provide comforts for old age, for the rainy day, for protection of family.
Ben Franklin was the greatest advertising manager for thrift that ever lived. So National Thrift Week appropriately begins Jan. 17, the anniversary of Franklin's birth.
It is a good time to take stock of one's ability to save money, and to devise plans for stimulating one's savings instinct—the only sure door to comfort, independence and fortune.

"MUCHLAGE TWINS" STICK TOGETHER 83 YEARS

By NEA Service

Yeleta, Texas, Jan. 18—Folks hereabouts call 'em the "muchlage twins." Because they've been sticking together for the last 83 years!
They're Mrs. Mae Peake and Mrs. Bell Billings, who live on a farm near here. They say they're the oldest and most inseparable "girl" twins in the world.
The marriage of both of them, way back in pioneer days, failed to separate them.
And they lived together throughout the Civil War while Mrs. Peake's husband was fighting for the Confederacy and Mrs. Billings' husband was with the Union forces—and they never once argued about the issues of the war.
The twins were born 83 years ago this month in Camden, Me., where they grew up as the Misses Tarbell.
Then I married Dr. W. Peake, a Virginia physician, and we started for the plains district in the 50's," Mrs. Peake says. "And, of course I had to take Bell along."

MRS. BELL BILLINGS (LEFT) AND HER TWIN, MRS. MAE PEAKE, BELOW, THE TWINS MAKING LARD.

"And on the way," Mrs. Billings puts in, "I met J. Billings, a merchant, who was bound for the west, too. I married him and the four of us headed for Texas together. And we all settled down together."
"And then came the Civil War," says Mrs. Peake. "Our husbands both went away, but we stayed together." "And then my husband was captured," says Mrs. Billings. "And Mae went right along with me to Missouri and helped me get through the lines and to him."
Both husbands died, in quick succession, 18 years ago.
Mrs. Peake, priest of the two aged twins, is the mother of 13 children, eight still are living. Mrs. Billings has no children.
The twins have lived in eight states and traveled through the whole Union.
They visited Chicago in 1854 when it was only a small western outpost of civilization.
They ventured west on the first train west of the Mississippi.
They finished the trip to Texas in a prairie schooner.
"But in all our travels we've been together and we'll always stay together, come what may," they both say.

while engaged in cleaning ice and snow from a crossing where a street of the city crossed the railroad tracks, he was struck by certain cars of defendant which were propelled against him and so injured that he immediately died.
(2) Plaintiff brought an action under the Federal Employers' Liability Act to recover damages for the benefit of the widow of deceased and her two children. The evidence disclosed that one of the children was more than thirty years of age and was married, and was in no way dependent upon his father for support. It further shows that the other child, a boy seventeen years of age, may have in part been dependent. The jury returned a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $4,000 and apportioned the same as follows: To the widow, $1,000. It is held that the verdict is sustained by the evidence.
(3) The defendant interposed Assumption of Risk as a defense. The evidence disclosed that the risk was not an ordinary but an extraordinary one, and there is no evidence to show that the deceased either knew of or appreciated it; it is held that the deceased did not assume the risk.
(4) The railroad tracks upon which deceased was working at the time of his death were used in the transportation of both interstate and intrastate commerce. Held in the circumstances of this case and from the evidence that deceased was engaged in interstate commerce within the meaning of the Federal Employers' Liability Act.
(5) Certain instructions of the court considered and held not to be prejudicial nor erroneous.
(6) Certain motions by plaintiff for a dismissal of the appeal considered and for reasons stated in the opinion are denied.
Order and Judgment Affirmed.

MANDAN NEWS
ENTERTAIN ROAD MEN AT MANDAN

Officers of the Commercial club entertained at luncheon yesterday, E. W. James of Washington, chief of the division of design of the Bureau of Public Roads; E. O. Hathaway of St. Paul, district engineer of the Bureau of Public Roads; L. J. Moe of Valley City, president of the N. D. Good Roads association, and former Lieut. Gov. Kraabel of the good roads legislative committee.
Brief talks were given after the dinner by Mr. James who touched upon the bridge matter. Mr. Hathaway said that the federal government was co-operating with the state in securing a national system of good roads, rather than underwriting the building of federal roads. Hon. P. D. Norton, Mr. Moe and Mr. Kraabel also spoke. Mr. M. Feland for the county commissioners lauded the excellent work done by Mr. James, and his ready conception of the needs of the bridge project. F. W. Mees, Secretary Tom Sullivan and J. H. Newton, also spoke. As the state good roads meeting was scheduled for 2:00 o'clock and as the guests together with a large number of Mandan men were anxious to attend, the talks were informal and rather brief.

Plan to Reorganize Dining Department

Reorganization of the dining car department so as to make all lunch rooms of the system such as those at Mandan, Jamestown, Dickinson, Fargo, etc., a local business rather than a dependent unit of the general department, was announced as part of his plans by L. K. Owen, new dining car superintendent who with his assistant, A. W. Thompson, was here the latter part of last week on a tour of inspection.
Owen, the new head of the N. P. dining car department is the youngest superintendent of dining car service of any railroad in the country. He was formerly a dining car conductor on the N. P. but quit the service to enter a Montana bank for business and managerial training, then was made head of the dining car service of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railway, and then accepted the position with the Northern Pacific company.

Betty Connolly Funeral Services

Funeral services for little Elizabeth Mary, five year old daughter of State's Attorney and Mrs. L. H. Connolly, were held at 9 o'clock this morning from the chapel of the Kennedy undertaking parlors.
Mr. and Mrs. Connolly arrived last evening from Algona, Wis., where Betty died last Saturday noon of diphtheria after but a few days illness.
Funeral services were strictly private, public health laws of the state of North Dakota permitting only the members of immediate families present in the case of deaths from contagious diseases.
Rev. Fr. Clement Dimpfl read the funeral service. Interment was in the Union cemetery.
Dr. R. C. Letsdon of Beach, N. D., has opened dental offices in Mandan in the Mandan Drug company building. He will be associated with Dr. L. R. Priske.
G. L. Heegaard, who has been spending the past week in Mandan looking after the Mandan Mercantile company interests, has returned to his home in Minneapolis.
Scott G. Conyne of Minneapolis arrived in Mandan yesterday and will visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Conyne.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

No wonder Buskins couldn't understand the poor things blown into the sky by Whizzy Tornado. Because the broom talked Spanish, the cow French, the pig Irish, the wheelbarrow Italian and so on, according to the families they belonged to.
But Nancy and Nick had the language charm that their old friend Magic Mushroom had given them and had no trouble at all finding out the troubles of the poor wind-blown creatures. The pig was particularly distressed because, he said, with tears rolling down his cheeks, the wind had blown all the curl out of his tail!
Buskins and Nick laughed, but Nancy patted him consolingly. "Why, I guess he feels as bad as little girls do who have no curls at all," she declared. Betty Brown used to cry all the time until her mother—Why, I know what I'll do, Mr. Pig, I'll do what Mrs. Brown did to Betty's hair, I'll put a curl paper on your tail!" Which she did—there being plenty of paper and all sorts of pins—and Piggy went away squealing with delight.
The broom was jabbering away at a great rate but Nick made out his trouble at once. "He says he was a perfectly good scare-crow before the storm," said he, "but the wind came along and blew off his arms and all his clothes."
"Well," said practical Nancy, looking around. "That's easily fixed. There's tons of straw lying everywhere and, dear knows, there are more sticks than anything else. We've enough stuff for a hundred scare-crows—clothes 'n' all. There's a nice old coat right there! Whizzy did us one good turn anyway."
So the broom was fixed as good as new in a very few minutes: "I wouldn't mind so much," he apologized happily, "but it's corn-planting time, and the crows where I come from are thicker than bees."

WHY WOMEN GET DESPONDENT
Are not women naturally as light-hearted, brave and hopeful as men? Yes, certainly; but a woman's organism is essentially different from a man's—more delicate, more sensitive and more exacting. Women are delicate health are more dependent, more nervous, more irritable and more despondent. When a woman develops nervousness, sleeplessness, back-aches, headaches, dragging-down pains and melancholia she should lose no time in giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial, as it will quickly dispel such troubles. This root and herb medicine contains no drugs and has been the standby of American womanhood for nearly fifty years.
Government chemists, working with deadly gases discovered during the war, have developed artificial scents of jasmine and violet.

Counsel's Delay
"I am sorry that conditions are such that I feel constrained to counsel delay in carrying out this splendid and essential program, but I am confident that our program will be superior, and in the long run we will accomplish more if our roads are built with the greatest possible skill and economy, and also as far as possible built in times when the additional burden upon the taxpayers will not deprive his family of the necessities and comforts of life.

"I believe in good roads, and that a system of excellent highways should be provided as early as reasonably possible. I am confident that in increased land value, in lessened cost of transportation, and in increased joy and profit from our community life, few agencies contribute more than does a system of good roads. Therefore we must have them. Let us plan today—let us gather the forces who are building our state and paying its taxes into a mighty movement that will insure the rapid, efficient and economic construction of a splendid system of highways in our state as soon as our financial condition permits us to undertake the work in a way that shall compel the confidence and enthusiastic support of our people, and the unquestioned success of the program.

DAIRY POINTS

PLAN FOR BULL ASSOCIATION

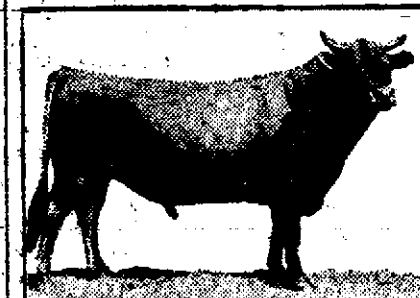

Idea Has Been in Use in Europe for Many Years, But is Comparatively New Here.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Every dairy farmer knows that he would get better returns from his feed and labor if he had high-grade stock; but the idea of establishing a blooded herd immediately suggests "kid glove" farming and bankruptcy. "Two-thousand dollar cows and two-dollar milk," was one farmer's characterization.

Yet the United States Department of Agriculture annually is a leading hundreds of farmers toward the possession of herds that will increase the former milk and butter-fat yield with the same outlay for upkeep. One of the most useful agencies is the co-operative bull association.

A high-grade cow will impart her excellent qualities to one calf in a year, and the total of high-grade farm cattle is increased by one. On the other hand, a bull whose mother had the same milk and butter qualifications, and whose father is descended from a milk and butter strain, may sire as many as 75 calves, each carrying its share of the racial excellence. This bull can do duty with one lot of cows for two years without danger of inbreeding. If there were five lots of cows and five bulls, and the bulls were rotated from one herd to another every two years, each bull would have a period of usefulness of possibly 10 years, and may easily have added 750 head of young stock, with a due proportion of high-milk-producing heifers. As the first generation of heifers became milkers, the breeding value of the bulls would become established, and any inferior sires could be weeded out. Five bulls kept for ten years may change the entire dairy industry of a community and possibly give its cattle a distinctiveness that would be a valuable market asset.

Co-operative bull associations have existed in Europe for a long time. In America the system is only twelve or thirteen years old, but records of milk and butter-fat production are in possession of the department, showing tangible benefit far exceeding the cost to the cow owners.

At New Windsor, Md., for instance, seven daughters of one sire averaged 270.5 pounds of butter fat a year, an improvement over the average of 208.3 pounds for their dams. This was only the first generation. The five-bull block association will permit line-breeding with greatly increased possibilities.

To organize a co-operative bull association it is first advisable to arouse as much interest as possible in the plan through meetings, conversation, and the circulation of Department of Agriculture literature. It is possible that the county agent or even some state or federal agricultural representative can be induced to help personally. Advice can always be obtained from the department by mail. Forms can be had from the department for a preliminary agreement, in which, among other things, the number of cows owned by each prospective member is listed. When a sufficient number of cows have been listed, a meeting should be called and arrangements made for incorporation. Each member would contribute in proportion to the number of cows he owns, but would have only one vote.

As early as possible, the temporary or permanent secretary should begin corresponding with breeders having high-grade bulls for sale. One bull should be purchased for about every 75 cows. The cows should be divided into blocks of that number, with regard to geographical convenience, and arrangements made for the keeping of the bull by a responsible member whose farm is conveniently located. The fees should be such as to cover the purchase cost and the cost of keep for a year, and annual assessments provided thereafter.

Valuable information on the formation and conduct of bull associations will be found in Farmers' Bulletin 263, which the department will send free on request. Supplemental information, including plans for a model bull pen, and data on the operation and success of various established bull associations can also be had by correspondence. The department is doing everything in its power to promote the co-operative bull association movement as one of the most valuable advances made in modern dairying.

Gentleness With Cows.

Cows respond to gentle treatment. The dairyman who makes pets of his calves and who continues to fondle the animals even after they have dropped their own calves is almost certain to possess a herd of good milkers.

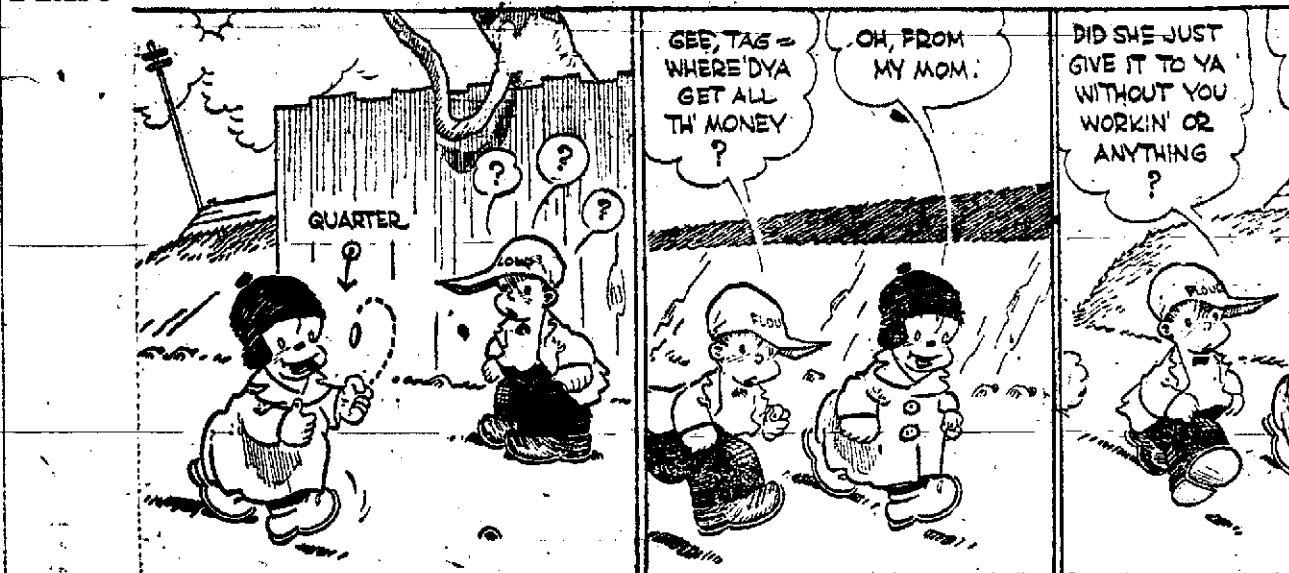

Wilhelm, while German emperor, had 73 castles and other residences.

In Hungary a belief exists that a fire caused by lightning can be extinguished only by milk.

HARVEY CROCKETT HADA TOOTH PULLED LATE THIS AFTERNOON—

SUPREME COURT

From Bowman County

The State Bank of Bowman, Plaintiff and Appellant, vs. Walter Nelson, et al, Defendants, and Samuel P. Halpern, Defendant and Respondent.

Syllabus

In an action to foreclose a chattel mortgage which covered, among other property, crops to be later grown on land occupied by the mortgagors, where the mortgagors were not personally served and where the complaint showed that the owner of the land, who was made a party defendant, claimed an interest in the crop, the latter answered setting up a lease made with one of the mortgagors subsequent to the date of the mortgage, and with the knowledge of the mortgagor. The lease reserved to the lessor title to the crop as security for the stipulated cash rental and advances. The answer further denied that a legal seizure issued by the attorney, alleged a conversation by the plaintiffs and denies incident thereto, but concluded with a prayer for relief that defendant be decreed to be an owner and entitled to possession. The mortgagee abandoned the premises before the crops were harvested and the defendant, with the plaintiff's acquiescence, caused the grain to be harvested and threshed at defendant's expense.

It is held:

(1) The evidence shows that the grain in controversy was converted by the plaintiffs and it falls to show a legal seizure thereof by the sheriff.

(2) Where issue is taken upon allegations of fact constituting a conversion and evidence is introduced upon such issue, without objection and an appropriate measure of damages established, such judgment may be entered for the defendant as is consistent with the pleading and proof.

(3) Under the record in this case, the issue relating to conversion is not resolved by the prayer for relief in the answer.

(4) The evidence clearly shows that the defendant's advances exceeded the full value of the mortgage's interest in the crop and hence that the defendant had a superior right therein.

Appeal from the District Court of Bowman county, Lemke, J. Affirmed.

THRESHING MADE A PASTIME

Italian Families Beat Wheat From Straw in Rhythm, and Seem to Enjoy the Work.

Gasparino Dante got up early Sunday morning, and before the sun was very high his day's work was well started on his farm near Capua, Italy. The two daughters—one eighteen and the other fifteen—started (and finished) the day with the men. The younger children were too small to be of any help, although the boy of ten scattered wheat over the stone threshing floor so that it would be ready when the older members of the family had finished with breakfast—bread and cheese and coffee, for Dante can afford coffee in the morning. He owns thirty acres.

When threshing started, the father paired with the oldest girl on the side of the floor; the other couple stood side by side opposite. The four flails were poised high in the air an instant and then at a shout from the farmer one pair descended and as they were lifted the couple opposite struck.

The four-beat the grain, keeping perfect time and pausing only while the boy raked the straw into a pile at one side of the floor and swept the kernels of wheat into another heap, and threw down a fresh supply.

Then, with a shouted signal that seemed to welcome the new onslaught the rhythm of the thumping started again. The manner of the threshers was more like that of couples dancing an old-fashioned quadrille than that of harvest toilers under the blistering, blinding midsummer sun of southern Italy.

SWEEP OFF ALL VEGETATION

Ancient Records Tell of Visitation of Locusts That Were Followed by Dire Famine.

A passage of locusts in France, in 1613, entirely cut up even to the roots more than 15,000 acres of corn near Arles, and had even penetrated into the barns and granaries, when, as it were by Providence, many hundreds of birds, especially starlings, came to diminish their numbers. Notwithstanding this, nothing could be more astonishing than their multiplication, for the fecundity of the locust is remarkable.

Upon an order issued by the government for the collection of their eggs, more than 3,000 measures were collected, from each of which, it was calculated, would have issued nearly two millions of young ones. In 1630 they entered Russia in immense divisions in three places, thence passed over into Poland and Lithuania, where the air was darkened by their numbers. In many parts they lay dead to the depth of four feet. Sometimes they covered the surface of the earth like a dark cloud, loaded the trees, and the destruction which they produced exceeded all calculation. In 1645 immense swarms visited the islands of Formosa and Tayowan and caused such a famine that 8,000 persons died of hunger.

Publicly Indorsed!

Tens of thousands of men and women throughout the United States and Canada, of all ages and in all walks of life, afflicted with stomach, liver and kidney disorders, some of them of long standing, as well as thousands of weak, thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse, have testified publicly that they have been fully restored to their normal health, strength and weight by the use of Tanlac.

Still others, who seemed fairly well, yet who suffered with indigestion, headaches, shortness of breath, dizzy spells, sour, gassy stomach, coated tongue, foulness of breath, constipation, bad complexion, loss of appetite, sleeplessness at night and terribly dejected, depressed feelings, state that they have been entirely relieved of these distressing symptoms and restored to health and happiness by Tanlac.

That is THE REASON WHY the demand for Tanlac, the powerful Reconstructive Tonic and body builder, has broken all world's records.

Tanlac is sold—in Bismarck by Joseph Breslow and by leading druggists everywhere. (Advertisement.)
